farm called Bollinghatch, with sufficient meat, drink, apparel, washing, and attendance, to be provided by my executors, and they shall pay to my said wife 25s. quarterly during her life, in recompense of both said £20 and her dower. And if she shall leave my sons' house, then they shall pay her the said £20 a year and also give to her for her own use six pairs of the best sheets, two dozen napkins, three tablecloths, and four towels. To my brother Symon Josselyn, in recompense of his brotherly love toward me and his care of my children, an annuity of £25 for life and the use of the upper chamber over the parlor of my said house wherein he now lives, with the bedding in the same and all necessary implements of household. My executors shall allow him for life the use of one good gelding or nag with a saddle and furniture. Whereas I have given to my eldest son John his portion of my lands and other estate amounting to £800, nevertheless my executors shall pay him £10 within ten years after the decease of my wife and my brother Symon, if he be living, and if he be dead, then the £10 shall be paid to his son Ralph Josselyn. To my son Thomas and my daughter Mary £5 apiece, to be paid within the said ten years. To my daughter Anna £10, to be paid within the said ten years. my son Richard £200 for his portion and in recompense of £15 given him by the will of my brother Thomas Josselyn, deceased, to be paid within one year after the death of my wife and my brother Symon; and if they both die before me, then it shall be paid within four years after my decease. And if my executors make default of payment of the said £200, then I bequeath to my son Richard 20 acres of land called Highfield, in Roxwell, and my said farm called Bollinghatch, to him and his heirs for ever, with a foot-, horse-, and cartway, for himself, servants, etc., through a field called the field before the gate, parcel of said farm, to be directly leading next the hedge against Nyne acres, parcel of the lands called Foulchers, from the King's highway into said Highfield. To my son Joseph £160 for his portion and in recompense of £15 given him by the will of my brother Thomas Josselyn, deceased, to be paid within two years after the death of my wife and my brother Symon; or if they both die before me, then within five years after my decease. And if my executors make default of payment of the said-£160, then I bequeath to my son Joseph and to his heirs for ever all those parcels of wood and land called Woodfeilds, Spicers Crofts, and Bollinghatch Grove, with a part of Mottshott next to the lane leading to Funbridge end, and to be divided at the path leading from Woodfeild to Fowehers, all of which said closes before devised to my son Joseph are parcels of my said farm. To my son Nathaniell £100 for his portion and in recompense of £15 given him by the will of my brother Thomas Josselyn, deceased, to be paid within three years after the decease of my wife and my brother Symon; and if they bo h die before me, then to be paid within six years after my decease. My executors shall allow my daughter Elizabeth sufficient meat, drink, and apparel, and all other things necessary for her maintenance for life; and if she shall survive them, they shall provide for her maintenance during her life. To the poor of Roxwell 20s. The rest of my goods unbequeathed and all my said farms, lands, etc., called Bollinghatch, with all the houses, edifices, buildings, yards, gardens, orchards, etc., belonging thereto, and all closes, pastures, and wood growing belonging thereto, and all the ways, waters, etc., lying in Newland, Roxwell, and Writtle, or elsewhere in the said County of Essex, to my sons Ralph Josselyn and Symon Josselyn and the heirs of their bodies lawfully begotten. If my son Symon die without issue, reversion of his portion to my son Nathaniell and his heirs for ever; and if my son Ralph die without issue, reversion of his portion to my son John and his heirs for ever. If my sons Ralph and Symon do not pay the said sums to my sons Richard and Joseph, then this devise to my sens Ralph and Symon of the said several closes to my said sons Richard and Joseph provisionally formerly devised shall cease, and the said closes shall remain to Richard and Joseph according to my former devise. Executors:

my sons Ralph Josselyn and Symon Josselyn. Overseer: my son Nathaniell Josselyn. Witnesses: Ma: Bridges, William Rochell his mark, William Smith, and Cha; Smyth. Proved 4 May 1632 by Ralph Joslin and Simon Joslin, sons of the deceased. (P. C. C., Audley, 57.)

From Chancery Proceedings*

30 April 1646. Complaint of Daniel Hudson of Epping, co. Essex, clothier, and RICHARD JOSLYN of the same, yeoman, executors of the will of Joseph Joslyn, deceased, brother of said Richard Joslyn, that one Thomas Joslyn, uncle of Richard and Joseph Joslyn, about thirty-five years ago made his will, and made his wife his sole executrix; and about four or five years after making his will said Thomas Joslyn died, and his widow proved the will, wherein said Thomas bequeathed to said Joseph Joslyn, deceased, a certain sum of money, which by the death of his sister Dorothy amounted to £15, to be paid to him at his age of twenty-one years. The widow, before Joseph Joslyn attained the age of twenty-one, paid said sum to Ralph Joslyn, father of said Joseph and Richard Joslyn and brother of Thomas Joslyn, and said Ralph held said £15 all his life, notwithstanding that Joseph Joslyn attained the age of twenty-one more than twenty-four years ago. Said Ralph and his brother Simon purchased to themselves and their heirs a messuage called Bollinghatch, with appurtenances, lying in Roxwell, Newland Fee, and Writtle, valued at £70 per annum, Simon afterwards relinquishing his share to Ralph and his heirs. Said Ralph, having this estate and also corn and cattle to the value of £400, made his will on 1 August 1626, appointing his younger sons, Ralph Joslyn of Cranham, co. Essex, and Symon Joslyn of East Hanvill, co. Essex, executors. Said Ralph Joslyn the father died about fifteen years ago, and the will was proved by said executors. In said will Ralph Joslyn bequeathed £200 to said Richard Joslyn in recompence of £15 given him by the will of said Thomas Joseyn, to be paid within one year after the deaths of his wife and his brother Simon Joslyn; and he appointed that in default of payment Richard Joslyn should have a piece of land called Highfield, containing twenty acres, parcel of said farm, to him: and his heirs for ever. Also said Ralph Joslyn by said will gave to his son Joseph Joslyn £160 in recompense of £15 given him by the will of said Thomas Joslyn, to be paid within two years after the deaths of his wife and his brother Simon Joslyn; and he appointed that in default of payment Joseph Joslyn should have wood and land called Woodfield, Spicercroft, and Bollinghatch Grove, and a part of Mottshold, next the lane leading to Fambridge End, to be divided by the path leading through the same from Woodfield to Fulchers, parcel of said farm, to Joseph and his heirs for ever. Said Ralph made his sons his residuary legatees and executors, whereby they held said farm called Bollinghatch and lands in Newland, Roxwell, and Writtle, co. Essex, on the conditions aforesaid. Said Ralph the father died about four years after making his will, and said Ralph and Simon proved said will and entered into said premises, taking the rents and profits of said farm, etc., and they have divided the same between themselves. Ralph took the land devised to your orator, Richard Joslyn, and his heirs for the better securing of said £200, and has since paid to complainant said £200; and Simon took the land devised to Joseph and his heirs for the better securing of said £160. and has agreed in writing with Ralph to pay the same. Dorothy Joslyn, the mother, died about — years ago, and Simon, brother of the testator, survived her and died two years and a quarter ago. About November 1642 said Joseph Joshyn underhis will, appointing your orator his executor, and died in The relation to the place bequeathing to his brother Richard Joslyn, your orator. Althoi said Then to his brother Nathaniel Joslyn £40 of said £160, ^{*} Free avoidage the 19.50 off or 1 Oding London.

to his brother-in-law Daniel Hudson £20 of said £160, to his sister Anne, wife of said Daniel Hudson, £5 of said £160 and also £15 given him by his uncle Thomas Joslyn, to his cousin Mary, wife of Thomas Gill, £20 of said £160, to the four children of his brother-in-law Daniel Hudson, namely, Daniel, Simon, William, and Elizabeth, £5 apiece of said £160, to Dorothy and Anne, daughters of his eldest brother John Joslyn, 40s. apiece of said £160, to Mary, daughter of said John, 20s. of said £160, and to John Owting of Cranham LS of said £160. And he desired that, if said Simon did not pay the same, your orators, Richard Joslyn and Daniel Hudson, should enter into the lands aforesaid and pay said legacies out of the same; and he made them his residuary legatees and executors. The residue was so small that it was not sufficient to bury him, much less to pay his debts. After probate of the will was taken on 20 February last past, two years having elapsed since the death of Simon Joslyn the uncle, your orators have repeatedly demanded the £160 from Simon Joslyn the brother and Ralph Joslyn, who are both chargeable to pay the same, but in vain; and said Simon, having got said lands into his possession, has made great waste of the same. Your orators therefore pray that a writ of subpoena may be directed to said Simon Joslyn and Ralph Joslyn, directing them to appear in court and show cause why they should not pay the £160 or give up the lands.

22 May 1646. Answer of Simon Joscellin, one of the defendants to the bill of complaint of Daniel Hudson and Richard Joslyn. He agrees with the bill as to the wills of Thomas Joslyn and Ralph Joslyn, but says that Ralph Joslyn his father and Simon Joslyn his uncle bought the said farm of Beilinghatch and lands jointly, and that it became his uncle Simon's by right of survivorship. His father Ralph Joslyn died possessed of a personal estate of £300, and the inventory of his goods overvalued his goods and comprised many desperate debts, so that he and his brother Ralph had paid more in legacies than their father had died possessed of. And after their father's death, by permission of their uncle Simon, the surviving joint tenant, Ralph and the defendant Simon entered into the lands and made a partition thereof, and paid their mother Dorothy £20 a year during her life and their uncle Simon Joslyn £25 a year during his life. But said Simon denics that he ever undertook to pay said money to said Joseph or that he is liable to pay the same to the complainants, Joseph having died before the same was due; and he alleges that Joseph had therefore no power to dispose of the same. Complainant is willing to stand trial concerning the same at the common law. He denies ever making any waste of the property. (Chancery Proceedings, Charles I, Bills and Answers, Bundle H. 1, no. 8.)

26 November 1646. Complaint of Daniel Hudson of Epping, co. Essex, clothier, and Richard Joslyn of the same, yeoman. [Complaint opens as in the former suit.] Simon Joscelyn, brother of the complainant, being asked for the money due to Joseph Joscelyn, now deceased, refuses to pay, sometimes affirming that their father, Ralph Joseelyn, was not solely seised of said premises, but was jointly seised with Simon his brother, although he well knows that their uncle Simon gave his brother Ralph, their father, a full and clear release of the premises, and that after Ralph's death, Simon, complainant's brother, and his brother Ralph, by fine and recovery or both of them and by indentures thereupon made and sealed by them, settled by mutual consent for the payment of said money. Your orator, Richard Joseelyn, begs that his brothers Ralph and Simon may set forth the annual value of the lands, one year with another, and alleges that his father left few debts and much personal estate. Said Simon of late has contrived and set on foot another title to said lands unto one Ralph Joslyn, clerk,* son and heir of John Joslyn, son and heir of said testator Ralph, as heir at law to the lands by the death of said Joseph, and has offered to give him £100 for his title to the lands; and Ralph, the nephew, now affirms that he has the best rights to the lands and will spend large sums of money in suits for the recovery thereof. Complainants beg that Ralph, the nephew, may set forth what title he has to said lands and show cause why the complainants should not be paid said £160, and that subpoena may be directed to said Simon Joslyn and Ralph Joslyn, as executors of their father's will, and also to Ralph Joslyn, their nephew, son and heir of John Joslyn, deceased, to appear before the Court of Chancery to answer unto said premises. (Chancery Proceedings, Charles I, Bills and Answers, Bundle H. 72, no. 45.)

FROM CHANCERY DEPOSITIONS*

9 May 1622. Mr. Scot: We, Raife Joslin thelder of Roxwell, co. Essex, and John Benton, husband of Mary, late widow of Thomas Searle late of Northweald Basset in said county and daughter of me the said Raife, do consent and yield to the dismission of the cause of me the said Raife and my said daughter Mary against Samuel Searle, Clerk, and do yield up unto said Samuel all the deeds, writings, and evidences that are at this time in the custody of the officer at the Rolls. [Signed] The mark of Rad. Josselin and John Benton. Witness: Thomas Burton of Stapleford Tawney, yeoman. (Chancery Depositions, Elizabeth—Charles I, 1622.)

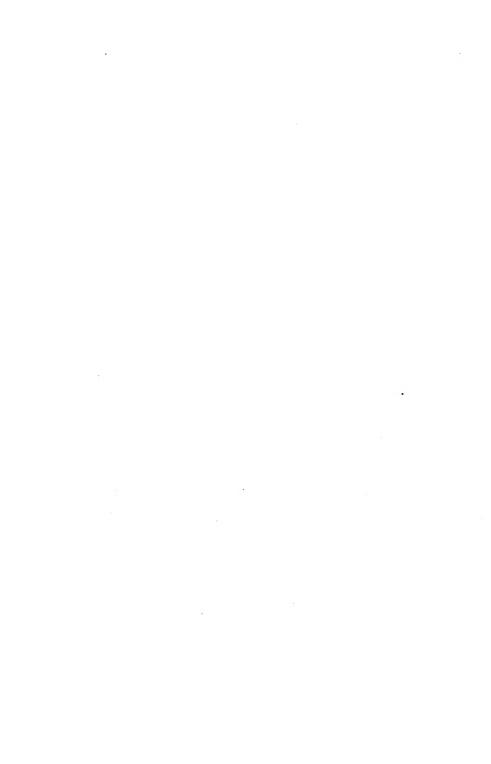

FROM FEET OF FINES*

Final Concord made at Westminster on the Morrow of the Feast of St. John the Baptist, 5 Henry VIII [25 June 1513], between John Josselyn Esquire, Thomas Josselyn Esquire, John Colt Esquire, and William Barley · Esquire, querents, and George Josselvn Esquire, deforciant, of the manor of Hydehall: four messuages, four hundred acres of land, forty acres of meadow, one hundred acres of pasture, and twenty acres of wood in Sabricheworth and Little Halyngbury in co. Herts, and of sixty acres of land, ten acres of meadow, and ten acres of pasture in Little Halyngbury in co. Essex. Plea of covenant. George has acknowledged the manor and tenements to be the right of John Josselyn, and has granted for hunself and his heirs the maner and tenements which Katherine Josselyn holds for life of the heirs of the aforesaid George the day on which this concord was made, and which after the death of Katherine ought to revert to George and his heirs; but after the death of Katherine they shall remain wholly to John, Thomas, John, and William, and the heirs of John Josselyn, to hold of the chief lords of that fee by the services which to the manor and tenements belong for ever. And George and his heirs will warrant to John, Thomas, John, and William, and the heirs of John Josselyn the manor and tenements against all men for ever. And for this John, Thomas, John, and William have given to George 100 marks. (Feet of Fines, Hertford-Essex, Trinity Term, 5 Henry VIII, 51/360, no. 6.)

Final Concord made in the Queen's Court at Westminster on the Morrow of the Feast of the Ascension, 15 Elizabeth [1 May 1573], and afterwards on the Morrow of the Feast of the Holy Trinity, 15 Elizabeth [18 May 1573], between John Josselyn, querent, and William Water, gent., deforciant, of one messuage, one garden, one orchard, one hundred and forty acres of land, ten acres of meadow, ten acres of pasture, and ten acres of wood, with appurtenances, in Roxwell and Newlonde, called Bolinghatch. Plea of covenant. William has acknowledged the beforesaid premises with appurtenances to be the right of John, as those which John has of the gift of William, and he has

Inquisition indented, taken at Stratford Laugherne, co. Essex, 9 May, 22 Elizabeth [1580], before Thomas Grymsdytche esq., escheator, after the death of John Josselyn of Roxewell, county aforesaid, yeoman, deceased, by the oath of Thomas Spyke, Thomas Pollarde, Richard Moyle, Thomas Hunte, Nicholas Awgar, William Mortimer, Martin Brewster, Richard Stanes, William Maples, William Browne, John Jefferye, Thomas Stoddarde, John Francke, and Anthony Brooke, who say that John Josselyn long before his death was seised in his demesne as of fee of and in one messuage or tenement in Roxewell called Searles and of and in all lands, meadows, feedings, and pastures to the same belonging, and of and in one messuage or tenement in Roxewell within the hamlet of Newlande called Bollynghatche, with all lands, meadows, feedings, pastures, and other hereditaments to the same belonging, and of and in certain parcels of land called Thystell downes lying and being in the parishes of Skellowbowells and Willingalle. And that John Josselyn. so thereof being seised of such his estate, died thereof seised 20 February last past before the taking of this inquisition, and that Thomas Josselyn is his son and next heir and was aged at the time of the death of John thirty years and more. And they further say that the messuage or tenement called Searles and the other premises to the same belonging are held of the Queen in chief by the hundredth part of one knight's fee, and that they are worth by the year beyond reprises £6, 3s. 4d. And that one little grove and a parcel of land, parcel of the messuage called Bollynghatche, is held of the manor of Fambridge Ende in free socage by fealty and rent of 2s. yearly. And that the residue of the messuage or farm and other premises called Bollynghatche are held of Edward Elliott esq. and Jane his wife as of their manor of Newland Haull, in free socage by fealty and suit of court and by the rent of 4s., and that it is worth by the year beyond reprises £9. 10s. And the parcels of land called Thisteldownes are worth 40s. yearly, and are held of Henry Josselyn esq. and ----- his wife as of their manor of Torrells Haulle, in free socage by fealty and rent of 4s. yearly. And that John Josselyn at the time of his death neither had nor held any other or more lands or tenements in demesne, reversion, or service in the county aforesaid, besides that which is above named. Delivered into Court 10 July, 22 Elizabeth [1580].* (Inquisitions Post Mortem, Chancery Series 2, vol. 189, no. 43.)

[Great antiquity has been claimed for the Josselyn or Jovelyn family.* Lodge, in his pecrage of Ireland, vol. 3, p. 259, of the revised edition of 1789, asserts that "the family derives its descent from Carolus Magnus, King of France, with more certainty than the houses of Loraine or Guise, who so highly boast of it." In vol. 1 of the Visitations of Essex (Publications of the Harleion Society, vol. 13) three Josselyn pedigrees are given, one of which, in the Visitation of 1612, begins with Gilbertus Joselinus, who is called by Lodge, loc. cit., Sir Gilbert Jocelyne, and is said to have accompanied William the Conqueror in his expedition to England, while the other two, in the Visitations of 1558 and 1612 respectively, begin with James Josselyn of Essex, gentleman, who according to the pedigree mentioned above was fourth in descent from the Gilbert who came with the Conqueror. Pedigrees of some of the later generations are found in the Visitation of Essex of 1634 (Publications of the Harleian Society, vol. 13, p. 430), in the Visitations of Mertfordshire, pp. 14, 69 (ib., vol. 22), and in the Visitation of London, vol. 2, p. 22 (ib., vol. 17).

From these pedigrees in the Visitations, corrected and expanded from other statements in manuscripts or printed books,† from the records given in the preceding part of this article, from other English records hereinafter mentioned, and from various records in New England, it has been possible to compile the following pedigree of the Josselyn family and to show the descent of the Josselyns of New England from the founder of the family in England in the days of the Conqueror. No attempt, however, has been made in this article to give the genealogy of the family prior to the Norman Conquest or to a parate truth from falsehood in what is alleged to be the earlier history of the Josselyns on the Continent.1

* Among the numerous forms of the name are Joceline, Joseline, Joseline, Joslin,

He became a priest, and held the livings of Semperingham and Tyrrington. He was clerk to the Bishop of Lincoln, but refused to accept the office of Archdescon of Lincoln. He founded at Semperingham an order for monks and nuns which was later known as the Gilbertine Order. Many miracles are said to have been wrought for those who prayed at his tomb, and in 1202 he was canonized by Pope Innecent III as St. Gilbert of Semperingham, 4 Teb. being his commemoration day.†

and victuallers. In 1471, in the Wars of the Roses, when the Kentish levies under Thomas Neville, the Bastard of Fauconbridge, attacked Bishopsgate and Aldgate, London, in an attempt to rescue Henry VI from his imprisonment in the Tower, Sir Ralph raised forces and, sallying forth, defeated Neville and his men. From the point of view of public service he was certainly the most prominent man of the family. He was bur, in St. Switkin's Church, Lendon, of which he was a benefactor, in "a fair tomb," which was destroyed in the Great Fire in 1665.* A memorial brass, no longer in existence, was erected to his memory in the church at Sawbridgeworth, co. Herts, bearing the following inscription: "Orate pro anima Radulphi Joslyne quondam militis et bis Maioratus Ciuitatis London qui obiit xxv. Octob. M. cccc. lxxviii."† Because of this brass some writers have stated that he was bur, in the Sawbridgeworth church. The inquisition post mortem on his estate shows that he died seised of the manors of Lynclehade and Southcote in co. Bucks; the manor of Chadewell in Chadewell, Thurrock, East Tilbury, and West Tilbury, the manor of Bursted, and lands and tenements in West Ham, all in co. Essex; and the manor of Aspenden Hall in the parishes of Buntingford, Layston, Throcking, Wyddial, Wakeley, and Westmill, and the manor of Austey, all in co. Herts; and that his heir was George Josselyn, aged 50 years and more at the death of the said Ralph, s. of his brother Thomas.

t Inquisitions Post Mortem, Edward IV, file 66, no. 28. Sir Henry Chauney, in his Ristorical Antiquities of Hertfordshire, published in 1700, makes a mistake which has been repeated by all later biographers of Sir Ralph Jocelyn. This is his statement that Sir Ralph had a son Richard, of Fidlers in Writtle, co. Essex, whose daughter Beatrice matried John Browne. According to the Visitation of Essex of 1612 (Publications of the Hartzian Seciety, vol. 13, p. 163) John Browne married Beatrix, daughter to litcherd Josselyn of Lidders in county Essex, son and heir to "Alderman Josselyn whoe light buryed at St. Mary at 18il." (A later hand, perhaps Chauney's, has changed the place of burial to St. Swithin's, London Stone.) Now this statement, as it stoed originally, was correct. Richard Gosselyn, ironmonger and alderman of London, in his will dated 20 Apr. 1428, requests that his body be buried in the church of St. Mary at Hill and mentions his wife Beatrice and, among other children, his son Richard. (Wills in the Court of Hustings, vol. 1, p. 463.) He is obviously not identical with Sir Ralph Jocelyn, nor did he belong to the family with which this article is concerned. Moteover, the inquisition post mottem, mentioned above, states that the heir of Sir Ralph was George Josselyn, son of Ralph's brother Thomas.

Juganitions Post Morton, Chancery Series 2, vol. 45, no. 9. (Public Record Office, London.)

1530, daughter of William and Jane (FitzWilliams) Bradbury of Littlebury and Wicken-Bonhunt, co. Essex,* and widow of John Barlev of Stapleford-Abbotts, co. Essex.

John Josselyn bought of his nephew, George Josselyn (17, i, 1), the ancestral estate of Hide Hall in 1513.† Besides the two estates above mentioned he had others in High Roding, Great Dunmow, Aythorpe-Roding, Tillingham, King's Hatfield or Hatfield-Broad-Oak, Shellow-Bowels, Great Waltham, Little Hallingbury, Little Canfield, and Much or Great Canfield, alt in co. Essex. He and his wife were buried in the priory of King's Hatfield, and in the chancel of the ancestratehurch in Sawbridgeworth was erected a stately tomb, with recumbent figures (carved in stone but now much defaced) of him and his wife Philippa. Above is a marble tablet, bearing the inscription: "Heare Lyeth John Joeelyn Esqr., and Philippa his wife which John Dyed Ao Dom 1525." It seems probable that, when the priory at King's Hatfield was destroyed at the dissolution of the monasteries in 1538, their bodies were removed to Sawbridgeworth.

Children by first wife:

i. Philip, 18 d. young.

ii. Nicholas, b. in 1498; d. between Feb. 1503/4 and 1524.

Children by second wife:

21. iii. Thomas, b. abt. 1507.

iv. Jane of Joan, d. in 1569; bur. in the church at Burnham, co. Bucks; m. Sin Nicholas Wentworm of Lillingstone-Lovell, co. Bucks, Knight, s. of Henry and Joan (FitzSymonds). Children:
1. Peter, b. before 1530. 2. Henry, b. before 1530. 3. Clare, b. in or before 1530. 4. Paul.

 Anne, m. after 1550 John Bagott of Bagshott of Blofield, co. Norfolk, Esq.

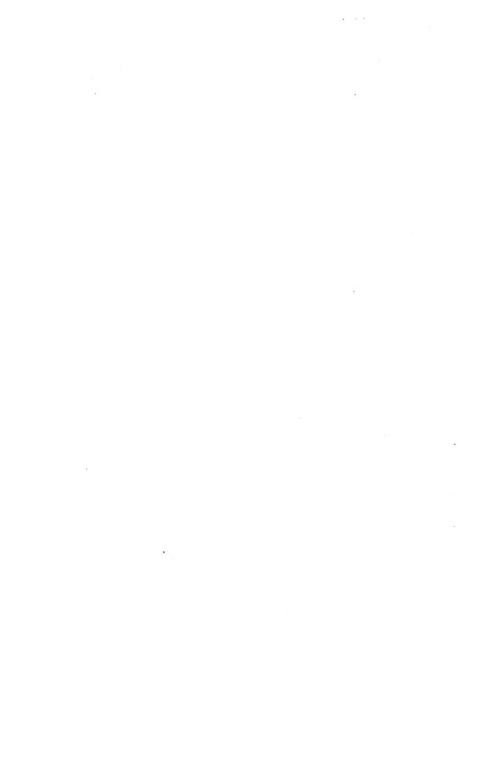

20. Ralph¹⁷ Josselyn (John,¹⁶ Jeffrey,¹⁵ Jeffrey¹⁴), of Much or Great Canfield, co. Essey, the testator of 1525, born about 1475, died after 30 May 1525. He married Elizabeth Cornish, daughter and coheiress of William, who survived him, and, with her daughter Agnes, was a legatee in the will of Philippa Josselyn, widow of John (19) of High Roding, co. Essex, dated 15 Oct. 1530. Ralph Josselyn was heir in reversion to the lands of this John of High Roding, his second cousin, in case of the death of John's sons and nephews without male issue. He was taxed on goods valued at £26 in 1523/4 and 1524-5; and his widow was taxed on lands valued at 40s. a year from 1542 to 1546, after which no record of her has been found. He probably held his lands in Great Canfield of John Josselyn (19).

Children:

Acnes, Acnes, Acoustic Str. 1499; d. after 1558; m. Sir John Wiseman of Canfield, co. Essex, Knight, who d. 17 Aug. 1558, s. of William and Mary (Glascock). He was one of the auditors to King Henry VIII, and bought Great Canfield Park, with lands lying in Great and Little Canfield, Takeley, and King's Hatfield (or Hatfield-Broad-Oak), co. Essex. He and his wife are buried in the church of Great Canfield. Children: 1. John, m. Margery Waldegrave, dau. of Sir William of co. Suffolk, Knight; four children. 2. William, d. s.p. 3. A son, d. s.p. 4. Robert, gentleman pensioner to Queen Elizabeth, d. s.p.; m. five times. 5. Thomas, d. in July 1563; bur. at Chelmsford, co. Essex. 6. Philippa, m. Essex, Knight, the testator of 1561, was born about 1507, being eighteen years of age at the time of his father's death, † and died 24 Oct. 1562. He married, in 1524, Dorothy Gates, the testatrix of 1579, who died before 11 Feb. 1582/3, daughter of Sir Jeffrey of High Roding, co. Essex, Knight, by his wife Elizabeth Clopton, daughter of Sir William of Kentwell, co. Suffolk, Knight. Sir John Gates, Knight. brother of Dorothy (Gates) Josselyn, was captain of the Guard of Edward VI, chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, and a member of the Privy Council. Sir Thomas, after the suppression of the monasteries, bought of Henry VIII, 28 Apr. 1540, the manor of Cowiekbury in Sheering, co. Essex, for £314. 4s. 4d. This he sold in 1556. In 1540 he received from the King a grant of the manor of Bromeshobury in Hatfield-Broad-Osk, co. Essex. He bought the manor of High Roding in 1553-4. He also had lands in Aythorpe-Roding and Canfield, co. Essex, and in Sawbridgeworth, co. Herts, he had the ancestral estate of Hide Hall. He was created Knight of the Bath at the coronation of Edward VI., 20 Feb. 1547/8. He and his wife lie buried in the Sawbridgeworth church.

24. John Josselyn (Ralph, 18 Ralph, 17 John, 16 Jeffrey, 15 Jeffrey 11), of Fyfield, Chignal-Smealy, and Roxwell, co. Essex, born about 1525, was buried at Roxwell 18 Feb. 1578/9. He married at Fyfield, 15 Jan. 1544/5, ALICE NEVELL, widow, probably the Widow Joslin who was buried at Roxwell 31 Jan. 1600/1.

John Josselyn is first of record at Fyfield, where he lived for a year and a half, at least, after his marriage. Between 16 June 1546, when he is taxed at Fyfield, and 20 Apr. 1547, when he is taxed at Chignal-Smealy, he moved to the latter parish, six miles northeast from Fyfield, although one of his children was later baptized in the latter place, probably having been born there while her mother was visiting relatives. At some time between 1551/2 and 1561 he moved to Roxwell, which lies between Fyfield and Chignal-Smealy, and there he lived the rest of his life. A glance at the map of Essex shows how close to the old ancestral seats of the family this branch of it remained. Fyfield is six miles from Great Canfield, seven miles from Newhall Josselyn in High Roding (both parishes being in co. Essex), five miles from Hide Hall in Sawbridgeworth, co. Herts, and two miles from Torrell's Hall, anciently called Shellow-Jocelyn, in Willingale-Doe, co. Essex. Roxwell is six miles from Newhali Josselyn, ten miles from Hide Hall, two miles from Torrell's Hall, seven miles from Great Canfield, and five miles from Fyfield. By a fine dated I and 18 May 1573 John Josseiva acquired of William Water the property called Bollinghean in Newland hamlet in the parish of Roxwell, consisting of a large of a den, orchard, one hundred and forty acres of land, ten acres of meadow. ten acres of pasture, and ten acres of wood. This property, now ealled Boldinghatch, lies about two miles northeast from the church at Roxwell and about half a mile from Good Easter, co. Essex, where in the next generation a kinsman of John Josselyn, Rev. Jeffrey Jossiyn,* held the living for fifty years. John Josselyn held Bollinghatch of the manor of Newland Hall, the lord of the manor, Edward Elliot, being a connection by marriage, his daughter Elizabeth having married Thomas Young, third cousin of John Josselyn.† At the time of his death John Josselyn also held of the Queen a house and land called Searles in Roxwell, with other land in Roxwell held of the manor of Fambridge End and land called Thistledowns in Shellow-Bowels and Willingale-Doe held of Henry Josselyn (23) as of his manor of Torrell's Hall.

Thomas Josselyn was heir to his father's lands, and it is to his will that we owe our knowledge of his father's family. He was a staunch Puritan, as his bequests to Puritan ministers show.

Essex; both were living in 1604/5.\$ 3. Lydia, living in 1604/5.\$

* This Puritan clergyman is called "kinsman" in the will of Thomas Josselyu (24, ii), but the relationship between the two men is not quite clear. The clergyman may possibly have been the son Jeffrey mentioned in the will of Simon, son of Ralph (22), or he may have been one of the descendants of Jeffrey, son of John (18). If he was the son of Simon, who was the Jefferye Joslyn to whom Thomas (24, ii) remitted a debt in his will? Rev. Jeffrey Josslyn entered Jesus College, Cambridge, at Easter 1571, was made L.A. in 1574/5 and M.A. in 1578, was vicar of Shellow-Bowels, 1581-1555, and of Good Easter, 1585-1635, both in co. Essex, and died in 1635.

25. Sir Thomas, Joseph Joseph (Henry, Sir Thomas, John, George, Knight, was born about 1567.* The date of his death has not been discovered. He married first, at Hatfield-Broad-Oak, co. Essex, in Apr. 1589, Dorothy (Frank) Scott, who died 17 May 1602, daughter of John and Cicely Frank of Hatfield-Broad-Oak and widow of George Scott, by whom she had two daughters; and secondly, about 1693, THEODORA (COOKE) BERE, who was buried at Bexley, co. Kent, 13 Aug. 1635, daughter of Edmund Cooke of Lesnes Abbey, Erith, and Mount Mascall, Bexley, co. Kent, by his wife Elizabeth (daughter and coheiress of John Nichols), and widow of Clement Bere of Dartford, co. Kent, by whom she had two sons and a daughter. The first marriage of Sir Thomas took place two months after the death of his wife's first husband, in her father's house, during the absence of her parents,† by a strange minister, contrary to the law of the Church, which made it obligatory for the couple to be married in the parish church of one of the parties, by the vicar or rector thereof, or by licence. Because of these circumstances both bride and groom were excommunicated, and the sentence of excommunication was not removed until 15 Oct. 1590.‡ Sir Thomas was knighted by King James I on 11 May 1603. He lived at Torrell's Hall in Willingale-Doe, co. Essex, at Littleport in the Isle of Ely, co. Cambridge, in 1622, and probably also on his second wife's property in eo. Kent. He was appointed by Sir Ferdinando Gorges deputy-governor of all his possessions in New England, and sailed to New England in the ship Nicholas, arriving at Black Point, in what is now the State of Maine, 14 July 1638. He returned to England before 3 September 1639.

Henry Josselyn was a student at Corpus Christi College, Cambridge, in 1623. He was sent by Capt. John Mason to New England, where he arrived as early as 1634. By 1638 he had settled at Black Point. In 1636 he was appointed by Sir Ferdinando Gorges steward-general, and in 1645 became deputygovernor of Maine. He took the oath of allegiance to the Massachusetts Bay government in 1658, and in 1661 was appointed by King Charles 11 one of the commissioners to have charge of the Province. Owing to the Indian raids he moved from Black Point to Pemaquid, Me. He is not known to have had any children f xiv. John, b. abt. 1608; d. s.p. after 1675. He was a traveller, writer, and naturalist. He sailed with his father for New England in the ship Nicholas, alias the New Supply, arriving in July 1828, visited his brother Henry at Black Point, and returned to England in Oct. 1639. He made the voyage to New England again in 1663, staying with his brother until Dec. 1671, when he went back

 In Feb. 1622/3 Benjamin and Edward, sons of Sir Thomas Josselyn by his wife Dorothy Frank, sued the executor of their uncle, Peter Frank, for a bequest left to them, being two of the nine children of said Dorothy. They stated that they came of age "about a month ago," and therefore they were born about Jan. 1801/2. (Chancery Proceedings, James I, Bandle I. 2, no. 13.) The date 19 May 1602 is given in the harroduction by Professor Tuckerman to his edition of John Josselyn's New-Englands Ratities Discovered, published in Boston in 1865, but, if their mother died 17 May 1602 this can be about 18 translation of the same benefit in the same be preached at Cranham, co. Essex, the home of his uncle Ralph, and taught school at Upminster, co. Essex, from Nov. 1649 to Mar. 1640/1, and was then presented to the living of Earl's Colne by Richard Harlakenden of the Priory, Earl's Colne.* This living he retained until his death, being also for part of the time master of the grammar school there. His diary, which he seems to have begun in 1644, contains much that is interesting. † He mentions the death of the son of his cousin Abraham (28, ii) and later the visit of Abraham to Ungland. The letters which he tells of writing to New England were probably to his uncle Thomas (23) and to his cousins there. He made various collections for New England and for the education of the Indiana there. Like the rest of the family, he was a Puritan; but he managed to escape the penalties for refusing to wear the surplice until near the cad of his life, when he records that he wore the surplice, "which I see no sin to use." During the Civil War he was chaplain to Col. William Harlakenden's regiment, preached the assize sermon at Cheunsford, co. Essex, in 1646, and in 1652 and 1659/60 preached at St. Paul's Cathedral by request of the lord mayor of London. The executions of Archbishop Land and King Charles, the siege of Colchester, the Great Plague, and the Great Fire of London are also mentioned by him. He was involved in a lawsuit with his uncles over a portion of the ancestral property at Roxwell, which he finally obtained by a compromise and by the payment of £100.1 One of his parishioners loft him her lands, and by careful business dealings he amassed a considerable estate, so that he was able to give to his daughters generous portions on their mairiages. 28. Thomas²¹ Josselyn (Ralph,²⁰ John,¹³ Ralph,¹³ Ralph,¹⁴ John,¹⁶ Jeffrey,¹⁵ Jeffrey,¹⁴), of Roxwell, co. Essex, and Barham, co. She evidently died before her second husband, as in the will of the latter, dated 26 July 1669 and proved 19 July 1679.

she is not mentioned. Thomas Joslin, as he spelled the name, probably received his portion of his father's estate at the time of his marriage, as his father, in his will of 1626, bequeathed to him only £5. As the laptisms of his children are not recorded in the parish registers of Roywell, it is certain that he was not living there when his children were born. He was of Barham, co. Suffolk, just before his entigration to New England, and his daughter Mary was baptized at Barham 16 Mar. 1633/4. In Apr. 1635 he embarked for New England in the Increase of London, the passenger list containing the names of Tho: Jostlin, Eusbandman, aged 43, Rebecca his wife, aged 43, Eliza: Ward, a maid servant, aged 38, and the following children of the said Tho: Jostlin: Rebecca, aged 18, Dorothy. aged 11, Nathaniell, aged 6. Eliza, aged 6, and Mary, aged 1.* On his arrival in New Ungland he settled in Hingham, where he was a proprietor and town officer, and bought land of his son-in-law Thomas Nichols in 1638. He and his son Nathaniel sold their lands at Hingham 11 Mar. 1652/3 to George Lane and Moses Collier, and removed to Lancaster, where Thomas signed the civil compact 12 Nov. 1654. In his will, dated 9 May 1660 and proved 2 Apr. 1661, he appoints his wife Rebecca executrix, and mentions his sons Abraham and Nathaniel, grandson Abraham (son of Abraham), and daughters Rebecea Nichols, wife of Thomas, Mary Summer, wife of Roger, and Elizabeth "Eliaons."

It has been supposed by some writers that the kinship between Thomas Joshin or Josselyn and the more noted Henry Josselyn and John Josselvn of Maine was very close, one writer representing Thomas as the elder half brother of Henry and John to Although this kinship was a somewhat distant one, in old historic families like the Josselyus the ties of blood were strong, and as Torrell's Hall, the ancestral home of Flancy and John, was but a mile from Bollinghately in Rexwell, where Thomas Joslin passed his youth, it seems cectain that they were well known to one another. It also seems probable that, baving no children of his own to inherit his property. Henry Josselyn induced his kiteman Thomas to send to him his cidest son Abrobara, intending to make him his heir. Abraham certainly went to Searly rough, Me., and lived there for seven years. Whether he quarrelted with his kinsman or tired of the wilderness is not clear, but he returned to his relatives in Lancaster. He died several years before his kinsman Henry, and it is not known what disposition was made of the property of the latter.

[†] In 1886 Mr. William M. Sargent communicated to the REGISTER (vol. 40, p. 293) the conjecture of a member of the Josselyn family of Ipswich, co. Sutelly, East, thus Thomas Josselyn san of Relph [25] of Roxwell, co. Essex, was identical with the Timber, Joselyn who contexted to New England in 1635. This conjecture however, was at the context of the proof, and the member of the family who made it a finite discontinuous trace "the origin of this branch of the Josselyn family, nor its connection, if any, with the Forrel's Hall branch."

[•] Mid-lierax (Mass.) Court Files.
† The Middlesox (Mass.) court records give this death as that of Nathaniel son of "Nath. Josline," but this is obviously an error. Nathaniel Josselyn (28, iv) had a son Nathaniel, who was born 21 June 1658 and died 5 Mar. 1725/7, and he could not have been identical with the boy Nathaniel who died 8 June 1667. If it is conjectured that the Nathaniel who was born 21 June 1658 did die 8 June 1667. If it is conjectured that the Nathaniel who was born 21 June 1658 did die 8 June 1667, and that his parents named a younger son, who lived until 1726/7. Nathaniel, then this younger Nathaniel, born probably at least a year after 8 June 1667 (unless he were twin with the daughter Ellizabeth, who was born 7 June 1667), would be too young to marry Either Morse on 8 Feb. 1682/3. Yet it is cert on that the Nathaniel who married Esther Morse was son of Nathaniel (28, iv) and Sarah (Kinz), for in 1703/4 Nathaniel and Esther sell land formerly belonging to their grandfather Thomas King. It seems, therefore, clear that it was Nathaniel has high record and as he does not appear with his brothers in the quit and the of (1073 ± (cde supra, 28, ii, 6).

FOUR GENERATIONS OF DESCENDANTS OF JONATHAN HYDE OF NEWTON, MASS.

By Hon. WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON STOWELL of Amherst, Mass.

1. Serget. Jonathan' Hyde, younger brother of Dea. Samuel Hyde, whose descendants for four generations form the subject of an article in the Register of April 1917,* was born, probably in England, about 1626,† and died intestate at Newton, Mass., 5 Oct. 1711, aged 85. In Apr. 1639 he embarked in the ship Jonathan, bound from London for Boston, his elder brother Samuel crossing the Atlantic in the same ship with him, and in 1647 he settled at Cambridge Village (now Newton), Mass.† He married first Mary French, born in England about 1633, died at Cambridge 27 May 1672, aged 39, daughter of Lieut. William and Elizabeth of Billerice; and secondly, at Cambridge, 8 Jan. 1673/4, Mary Rediat, born probably at Sudbury about 1650, died at Newton 5 Sept. 1708, daughter of John and Ahn (Dolt) of Marlborough.

With his brother Samuel he bought 40 acres of land in 1647 from Thomas Danforth and 200 acres in 1652 from the heirs of Nathaniel Sparhawk. This land was held in common by the two brothers until 3 May 1661, when it was divided between them. (Middlesax Deeds, vol. 3, fo. 321.) He and his first wife, Mary, were received into full communion in the church 8 Jan. 1661/2, and he was admitted as a freeman 27 May 1663. He made a marriage contract with John Rediat, the father of his second wife, 2 Jan. 1673/4. (Ib., vol. 6, fo. 169.) In 1691 he was selectman of Newton. On 7 Mar. 1707

† According to Pope's Pioneers of Massachusetts he deposed 2 (1) 1673, aged 47 years:
